

Homeowners can reduce their property tax bills by taking advantage of homestead exemptions offered by counties, cities, school districts and other local taxing units. A homestead is generally

